

CONTENTS

EDITORIAL

Janine Moolman

NEWSBRIEFS

GENDER AND MEDIA

What is media diversity?

Milica Pestic

Who makes the news?

The Global Media Monitoring Project

Anna Turley

The exclusion of women's voices is part of a broader malaise in the media

Colleen Lowe Morna

Reporting Africa for Africa and the world

Rosemary Okello

Study finds that women and men want diversity in their news

Agnes NM Odhiambo

Women consumers of media must flex their muscles

Christine Davis

Torchbearers of a transforming society?

Black women in soap operas in post-apartheid South Africa

Crystal Orderson

Women's media activism:

cross cultural research and theory

Carolyn Byerly and Karen Ross

ADVOCACY

Putting gender violence on the media's agenda

Janine Moolman

Gender justice: Making IT work

Kubi Rama

Declaring war on sexist adverts

Loga Virahsawmy

2 POLICY

Why we need media policies

Patricia Made

54

6 Does South African media policy pass the test of diversity?
René Smith

58

Zimbabwean legislation works against media diversity

Davison Mudzingwa

64

8

13 Sexual harassment policies and media diversity in Zimbabwean newsrooms

Loveness Jambaya

68

18

TRAINING AND EDUCATION

Reviving SAMTRAN:

taking media training to new heights

Ruth Ansah Ayisi

73

24

27 A regional teaching and learning programme for media coverage of the SADC region

Jeanne Prinsloo

76

32

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY

Training journalists for a brave new world

Vanessa Malila and Chris Kabwato

80

35

WSIS Tunis outcomes disappoint gender activists

Brenda Zulu

83

40

RESEARCH AND MONITORING

Who's doing the talking?

Monitoring radio talk shows

Susan Tolmay

86

45

GOVERNANCE

Tanzania: positive signs as more women in parliament

Joyce Mkinga and Rose Haji

89

51

NEW BOOKS

91